Providing Choice, Removing Barriers

Open lies at the heart of what's next for libraries: providing access to trustworthy information, contributing to the future of library software, and provisioning the best services for users. Open is about choice, not barriers.

Open Access

We are committed to quality open access research and providing the best scholarly content available.

EBSCO is Open for Research

Today, maybe more than ever before, choice matters. By ensuring access to diverse and trustworthy information for any user, supporting interoperability of applications, and supporting open source, EBSCO is committed to choice. In this video, EBSCO's Tamir Borensztajn discusses how the company's focus on open delivers more choice to libraries

EBSCO supports 'open' overall

From open access, to research, to infrastructure, to open source

- Discovery of open access literature through EDS and EBSCOhost
- Supporting interoperability between applications through APIs
- Supporting open source and choice with FOLIO

Webinar Title: OpenAthens - What Librarians Should Know About Authentication

Date: Tuesday, March 7th, 2023

Time: 11:00 am – 12:00 pm (Greek and Cyprus local times)

Concern of security, privacy and data breach is continuously growing. Librarians is eager to hear and learn more about the most reliable authentication methods for quick and easy accessing online resources available to them and the library patrons whether onsite or off campus/remote.

In this webinar, we'll discuss how OpenAthens can help with building a great experience for end-users and for the librarians managing the most secured, simple and reliable authentication access taking the weight of unnecessary admin work off their shoulders.

The webinar will be held in Greek.

Agenda

- How OpenAthens can help support secure, seamless, and intuitive user experiences for both users and administrators
- Experience with OpenAthens by Open University Cyprus
- Time for exchange of thoughts, questions and answers

Speakers:

Panagiotis Themistocleous – Library of Open University Cyprus

Christos Skoutas - OpenAthens Senior Business Development Manager

...and some words more...

“Ποιος θα μου δώσει δύναμη
Τον κόσμο αυτό ν' αλλάξω
Να φτιάξω όμορφες καρδιές
Μεγάλες και πονετικές
Τις σκάρτες να πετάξω

Να σου δώσω μια να σπάσει
Αχ βρε κόσμε γυάλινο
Και να φτιάξω μια καινούργια
Κοινωνία άλληγε...”

“Who will give me the strength to change this world,
to make beautiful hearts
big and merciful,
to throw away the faulty ones?

To give you one of them to break,
Oh, you world of glass, and make a new different society...”
